

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The system and method verifies a configuration of a storage system through versions, configurations and components failure of the various storage system components and generates a report identifying errors and/or warnings of the current configuration. A 5 graphical representation of the storage system, including switches, clients and the like may be generated showing misconfiguration errors.